

`` and ``

```

  <h2>Chapter Title</h2>
  4
```

```

  <h2>Chapter Title</h2>
  4

```

Floats

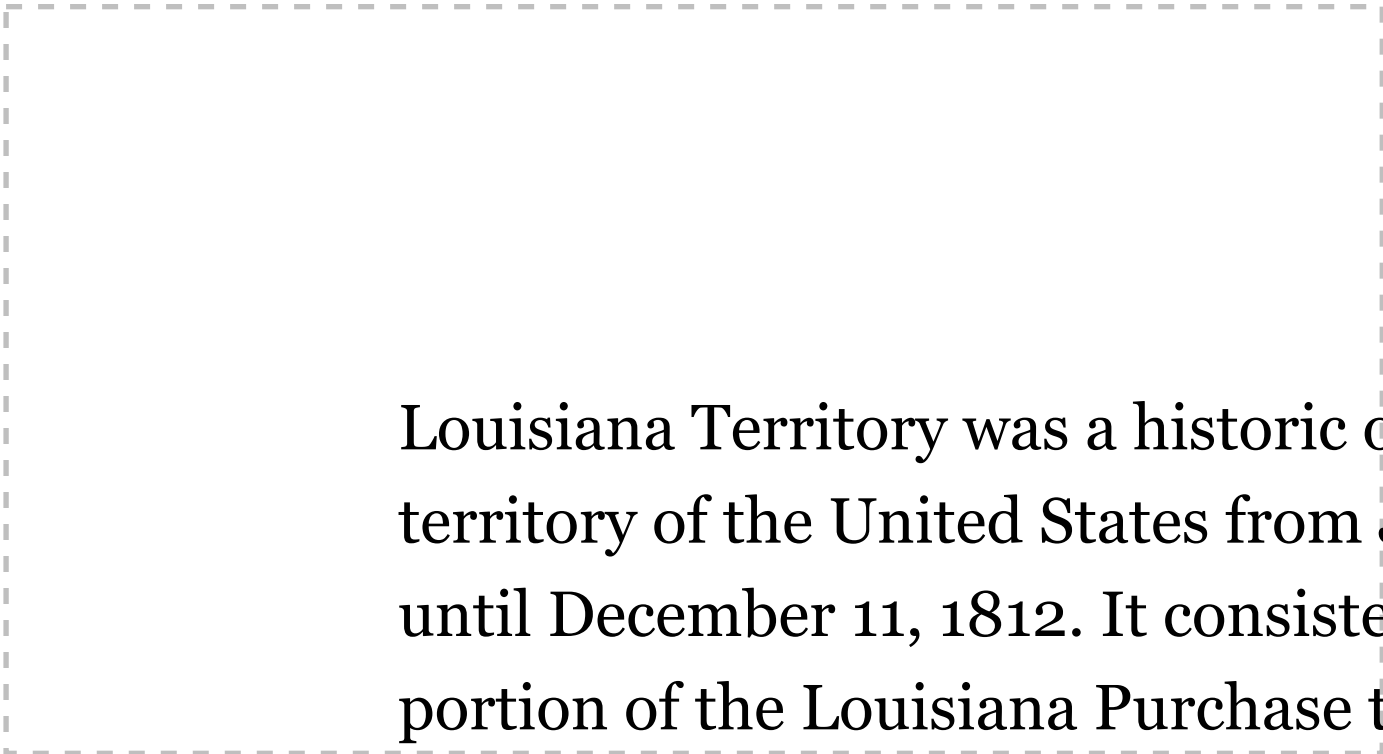

Positioning

Relative Positioning

p#special { }

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

```
p#special { position: relative; top: 100px; left: 100px; }
```

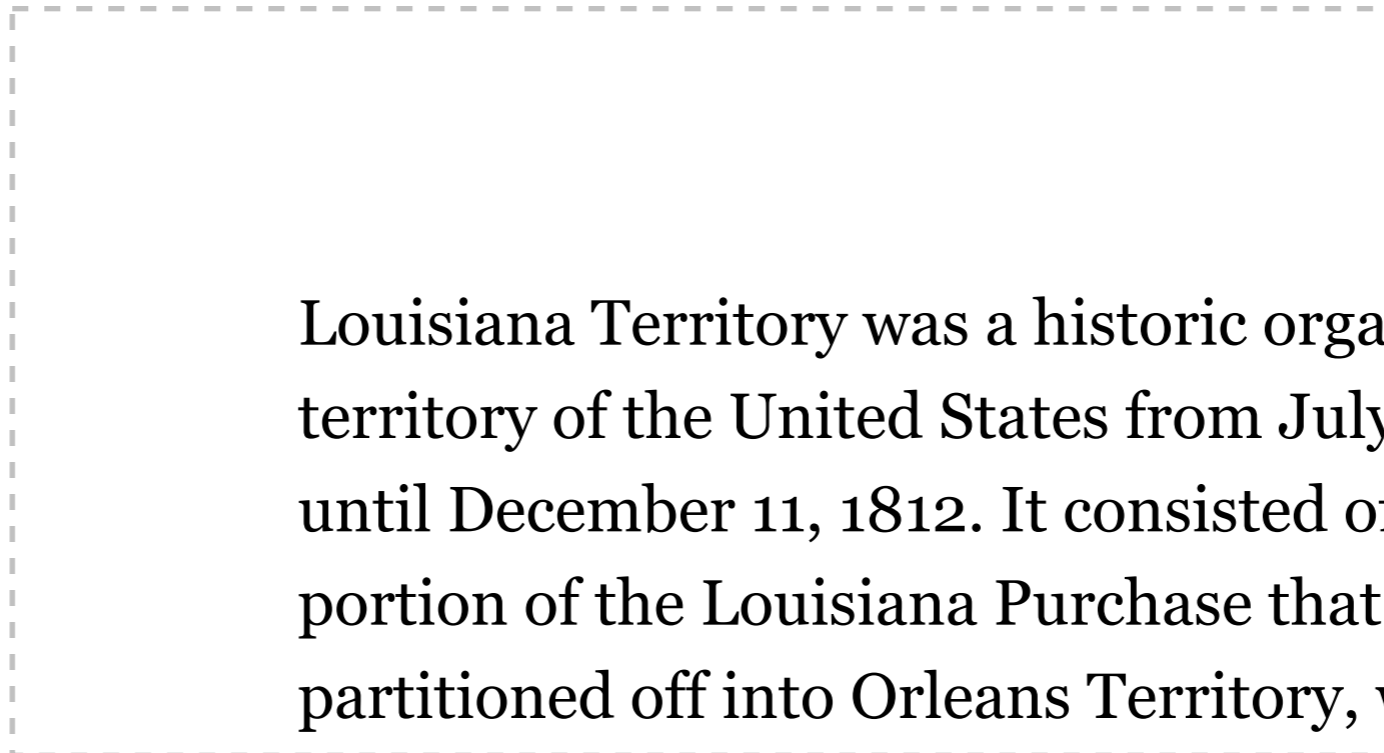

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

p#special { }

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

Laura E. Richards, Maude H. Elliott, and Florence Hall receive the first Pulitzer for biography (for Julia Ward Howe). Jean Jules Jusserand receives the first Pulitzer for history for his work With Americans of Past and Present Day.

```
p#special { position: relative; top: 100px; left: 100px; }
```

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana. Laura E. Richards, Maude H. Elliott, and Florence Hall receive the first Pulitzer for biography (for Julia Ward Howe). Jean Jules Jusserand receives the first Pulitzer for history for his work With Americans of Past and Present Day.

```
p#special { position: relative; top: 100px; left: 100px; }
```

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana. Laura E. Richards, Maude H. Elliott, and Florence Hall receive the first Pulitzer for biography (for Julia Ward Howe). Jean Jules Jusserand receives the first Pulitzer for history for his work With Americans of Past and Present Day.

Absolute Positioning

p#special { }

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

```
p#special { position: absolute; top: 0; left: 0; }
```

p#special { }

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana.

Laura E. Richards, Maude H. Elliott, and Florence Hall receive the first Pulitzer for biography (for Julia Ward Howe). Jean Jules Jusserand receives the first Pulitzer for history for his work With Americans of Past and Present Day.

Louisiana Territory was a historic organized territory of the United States from July 4, 1805 until December 11, 1812. It consisted of the portion of the Louisiana Purchase that was not partitioned off into Orleans Territory, which later became the state of Louisiana. The Louisiana Purchase however, bought more than the state of Louisiana. Laura E. Richards, Maude H. Elliott, and Florence Hall receive the first Pulitzer for biography (for Julia Ward Howe). Jean Jules Jusserand receives the first Pulitzer for history for his work With Americans of Past and Present Day.

```
p#special { position: absolute; top: 0; left: 0; }
```

Browser plugins